Jharkhand Complaints Allege Beef Deception, Threats and Conversion Pressure

Original reporting by Swati Goel Sharma

Cow slaughter and force-feeding beef

CASE SUMMARY

FIR	Filed on 2 January at Barhi police station in Hazaribagh district, Jharkhand.
Feast allegation	According to the complaint, villagers were served meat at a feast and were told only after asking that it was beef.
Conversion pressure	The complainant alleged that the accused urged villagers to convert after they had eaten the meat and made casteist remarks.
Site shown to police	The complainant and others showed police the alleged slaughter site, where pieces of flesh and bones reportedly remained.
Reported arrest	A person at Barhi police station who identified himself as a junior officer said the accused had been arrested.

THE TAKEAWAY

In the Barhi FIR, the complainant alleged that villagers learned they had been served beef only after they began eating and were then pressured to convert.
