Why I Am Not a Muslim

A Vedic Counter-Offer to Zakir Naik

Answering the conversion demands promoted by Zakir Naik and Maududi.

1. I reject child exploitation.

The account defended places a nine-year-old in an adult marriage. Puberty is no excuse. I reject child exploitation, however it is defended. [1]

2. I reject slavery.

No person has the right to own another. Freeing some slaves is not abolishing slavery. Freedom cannot depend on a slaveholder's permission. [2]

3. I reject killing people for leaving a faith.

Changing your belief is not a crime deserving death. Killing someone for leaving a faith is an atrocity. No sacred label can excuse it. [3]

4. I reject Halala.

After a final divorce, why should returning to her former husband require marriage and sex with another man? A woman's body is not a penalty for her husband's decision. [4]

5. I reject sex with servants.

A master has no right to a woman's body. Sex imposed on an enslaved woman is rape. Calling it a benefit does not excuse the abuse. [5]

6. I reject paradise as a sales pitch.

A marketing brochure of promised pleasures can tempt you. It cannot prove the belief true.

7. I demand proof, not surrender.

Where is conclusive proof that the founder himself recorded the words attributed to him? Even proven authorship cannot make an abusive rule right. No claim stands above reason.
